Specification Section Support:

08 71 00 (08710) – Door Hardware

28 13 00 (13750) – Access Control

Architectural hardware on a commercial project is a small percentage of the overall project cost, roughly 2%. However the architectural hardware can create headaches if not properly specified. Builders' Hardware can help you alleviate those headaches and keep your projects on schedule.

What makes our specification services unique?

- Specifications will be designed to the owner's requirements.
- Specifications will not be influenced by manufacturers.
- Will provide multiple equals and no product substitutes as directed.
- A fair and balanced specification.

“Your Unique Needs, and Our Commitment”

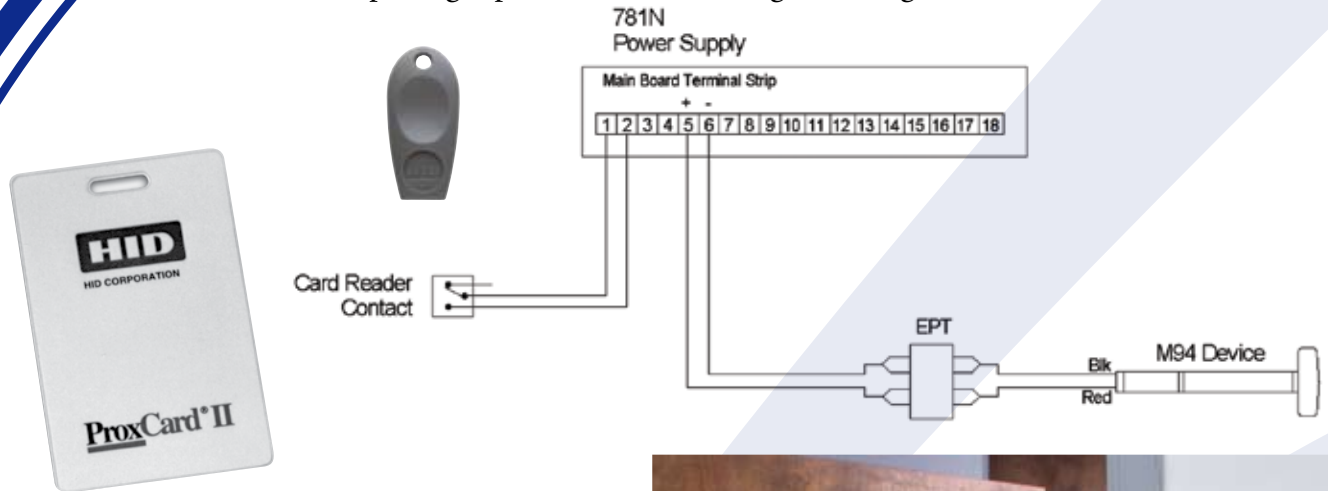

Builders' Hardware has certified professionals who understand the application, design and maintenance requirements that fire and life safety openings require. Our AHC's coordinate thousands of architectural hardware items and options to ensure door openings are in compliance with fire, life safety, accessibility and building code requirements and that they function properly for the lifetime of the building.

Keeping Specifications Current

- NFPA 101: Life Safety Code*
- NFPA 80: Standard for Fire Doors and Other Opening Protectives
- Americans With Disabilities Act (ADA)
- Green Building Rating System™ / LEED Certification
- Positive Pressure Doors (UBC 7-2, IBC 2000, UL 10 C)

Access Control Specification Services

Access Control? No Problem, Builders' Hardware can provide a complete access control package specification including riser diagrams.
